Statement from Mayor Sam Liccardo regarding the Resignation of San Jose’s Independent Police Auditor

San Jose, Calif. – Last night, San Jose Independent Police Auditor Aaron Zisser submitted his resignation to the Mayor and City Council.

Assistant Independent Police Auditor, Shivaun Nurre, has agreed to serve as the Acting Independent Police Auditor until the Mayor and City Council have the opportunity to recruit and appoint a permanent replacement. Shivaun also served as the Acting Independent Police Auditor during the previous two vacancies.

The Mayor will release additional information on the recruitment process for a new Independent Police Auditor at a later date.

Following is a statement from Mayor Liccardo:

“I’d like to thank Aaron for his service to our community, and for his hard work and commitment to police oversight. I respect his decision to step down and wish him well.”

“I’d also like to thank the members of the Independent Police Auditor’s Office for their continued professionalism during the past few months, and particularly, Shivaun, for once again stepping up to lead the office during a time of transition.”

“The City Council and I look forward to working with all stakeholders in the community to create an even higher standard of trust, accountability and transparency within the San Jose Police Department.”
