

SILICON VALLEY energy watch

Save Energy, Save Money!

The Silicon Valley Energy Watch is lending Kill A Watt™ and Kill A Watt™ EZ meters to Santa Clara County residents free of charge through selected San José public libraries.

The Kill A Watt™ and Kill A Watt™ EZ are plug power meters designed to easily measure the electricity used by plug-in appliances. You can determine which tools or behaviors use more energy and when. Understanding the energy use and related costs of your appliances can help you save energy and money through simple acts of conservation or efficiency.

You must have a valid San José public library card in order to borrow a Kill A Watt™ through this program. Meters can be checked out for three weeks, and are subject to normal late fees. They are currently available at the following San José Public Library branches:

- Dr. Roberto Cruz – Alum Rock
- Evergreen
- West Valley

To find out more about our program, and to see tips on saving energy at home and at work, please visit:

www.svenergywatch.org

This program is funded by California utility customers and administered by PG&E under the auspices of the California Public Utilities Commission.

© 2009 Pacific Gas and Electric Company. All rights reserved.