

SITE DEVELOPMENT PERMIT/AMENDMENT APPLICATION

Department of Planning, Building and Code Enforcement
JOSEPH HORWEDEL, DIRECTOR

Planning Division Customers:

Re: Permit Information Update

Thank you for making an investment in San Jose with this development application. The City prides itself on being a leader in Smart Growth, but recognizes that much of that good work is the result of private investment choices made by each of our applicants to locate in San Jose. One of our goals is to help you succeed in your business, so that you can help us with our business.

San Jose's development process is based on our San Jose 2020 General Plan, supplemented by the Zoning Ordinance, and City Council adopted design guidelines and policies. Many of these documents can be found online at our web site listed below. Our staff utilizes these policies to ensure your application is promptly reviewed in a comprehensive manner with the goal of "no surprises" later in the process. Several changes are being made to the way we process development applications filed with the City, with the goal of continuously improving our customer service and overall process.

Processing Time Targets

The City has worked with the development community to establish processing time targets (attached) for many of our applications. These targets are intended to set expectations for City staff and our applicants of how long a given process should take. One important lesson we have learned is that responsive applicants keep their projects moving more successfully through the process. We will manage your project(s) according to these established targets.

If your project does not fit into these general targets we will work with you to identify the best course of action. For example, if your project requires more than a second cycle of plan review, we will schedule a meeting with you and your consultants to discuss the best way to keep the project moving consistent with the standard timelines.

As part of managing the schedule for your project, it is important to understand the overall discretionary review process and relevant milestones, public outreach, and the required environmental review. We will assist you with all aspects of your project, such as coordinating and scheduling a community meeting when one is necessary, or working with you to address the scope and specifics of complicated environmental issues.

Working With Your Project Manager

To provide you the best possible customer service, a project manager has been assigned as your key point of contact in the City's processing of your application. The project manager is responsible for managing your schedule, scheduling meetings, and providing feedback to you and your design team regarding the various components of your project. In addition, the project manager will facilitate the resolution of key project issues to ensure you get the best possible information and decisions from all City departments in a timely manner. Your project manager has access to department management and upon your request will coordinate the necessary team meetings and decision-making to keep your project moving. This relationship is an important partnership to ensure good communication and a predictable development process – feel free to contact your project manager at any time.

Development Fee Program

One of the outcomes of the review of processing times and the budget for the development fee programs this fiscal year was the reconsideration of our fee structure which was previously set on a flat rate basis. The development review program in San Jose is paid for with the fees collected with application submittals. These fees pay for the City staff working on development projects. As a result of our budget review and working with the development community, a greater effort was made to ensure that fees collected reflect the level of work commensurate with specific classes of projects.

The fees paid for specific development applications now come with general limits of service that staff can provide. For a typical development application, the application fees pay for two cycles of plan review, one community meeting, and an application period not to exceed six months. We have also added surcharges to our fee schedule for those instances where a specific application cannot stay within these general limits. This provision ensures that the standard fee program is not predicated on those unusual projects. Examples of the surcharges now include fees for additional community meetings, additional plan review cycles, and on-file time extensions beyond the standard six months. Previously, our cost recovery efforts related primarily to expenses we incurred in re-noticing applications.

Conclusion

It is important to understand that the development review process works best when there is a partnership between the City and our customers to resolve project issues. While it is occasionally appropriate to agree to disagree, we will work diligently to find solutions that meet your needs so that the City's long-term goals are achieved. If you have questions about the development review process, need help to resolve an issue, or have comments about how we are doing, my Senior and Principal Planners are always available to help you.

Please take the time to fill out the survey forms that you will receive at the conclusion of the process. Your comments and feedback help us improve the way we do our jobs, particularly our service to customers.
