INTRODUCTION

Close to two million Americans experience homelessness each year. For most, this is caused by the gap between their income and the cost of housing. Yet for many, health conditions, mental health, substance abuse, trauma, and a lack of support from family and community prevent them from obtaining permanent housing.

Biennially, communities across the country conduct comprehensive counts of their homeless population in order to gain a better understanding of the current homeless population and to apply for federal funding for homeless programs. The County of Santa Clara has worked in conjunction with Applied Survey Research (ASR) to conduct the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey for adults, families, and unaccompanied children. ASR is a non-profit social research firm based in Santa Clara County and Santa Cruz County, California, with extensive experience in homeless enumeration and research.

The 2011 Santa Clara County Point-in-Time (PIT) Count was a community-wide effort conducted on January 25 and 26, 2011. The count and subsequent surveys provide information about the homeless population that is critical to program and service planning, helps to inform the allocation of resources for services to help the homeless, and offers a means of measuring the impact of homeless programs and services. In addition, it is required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as part of a national effort to enumerate the homeless population.

All jurisdictions receiving federal funding to provide housing and services for the homeless through the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Grant are required by HUD to conduct a biennial PIT count of unsheltered and sheltered homeless persons during the last ten days of January. Currently the County of Santa Clara receives $11.3 million in Homeless Assistance Grant funding. This is a critical source of funding for the county's homeless services.

According to HUD, the PIT count must include all unsheltered homeless persons and sheltered homeless persons staying in emergency shelters and transitional housing programs on the date of the count. Jurisdictions report the findings of their PIT count in their annual application to HUD for federal funding to provide housing and services for the homeless. The compilation of data collected through PIT counts across the United States helps the federal government to better understand the nature and extent of homelessness nationwide.

The Homeless Census had two components: a PIT enumeration of unsheltered homeless individuals and families (those sleeping outdoors, on the street, in parks, or vehicles, etc.) and a PIT enumeration of homeless individuals and families who have temporary shelter (those staying in an emergency shelter, transitional housing, or safe havens). Due to the large size of Santa Clara County, the entire county was canvassed over a period of two days; from five deployment locations based in Cupertino, Gilroy, Palo Alto, San Jose, and Santa Clara. The count was conducted by teams of trained homeless workers and community volunteers. This unsheltered homeless enumeration methodology, developed by ASR in 2001, has been highlighted by HUD in the 2008 Guide to Counting Unsheltered Homeless People.

The unsheltered street enumeration was divided into two separate counts: a primary count of homeless individuals and families and a secondary count which focused on unaccompanied children and youth (individuals under the age of 25). The primary count took place during the early mornings of January 25 and 26, 2011. The unaccompanied children and youth count took place on the afternoons of January 25 and 26, 2011, from approximately 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., when children and youth were more likely to be visible in the community.

In order to capture the number of homeless individuals and families staying in shelters and transitional housing programs, shelter providers in the county completed an online survey, reporting the number of homeless individuals and families who occupied their facility on the night of January 24, 2011.

In addition to the countywide homeless census, an in-depth 32-question survey was administered in the weeks following the street count to 1,014 sheltered and unsheltered homeless individuals. The survey was designed to yield qualitative data about the adult homeless population in Santa Clara County. Unaccompanied homeless children and youth were given 28 additional survey questions that asked specifically about their circumstances as unaccompanied children and youth. A total of 200 unaccompanied homeless children and youth answered the survey in Santa Clara County.

The results presented in this report provide invaluable data regarding the number and characteristics of homeless persons in Santa Clara County, which can help guide countywide efforts to mitigate and end homelessness. This report focuses special attention on specific subpopulations including chronically homeless, veterans, families, and unaccompanied children and youth. These groups have been identified by the federal government as populations of particular interest in the 2011 PIT counts.

Federal Definition of Homelessness<sup>2</sup>

In this study, HUD's definition of homelessness was used. The definition includes:

- An individual who lacks a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence, and
- An individual who has a primary nighttime residence that is:
  - » A supervised publicly or privately operated shelter designed to provide temporary living accommodations (including welfare hotels, congregate shelters, and transitional housing for the mentally ill), or
  - » An institution that provides a temporary residence for individuals intended to be institutionalized, or
  - » A public or private place not designated for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings.

Certain homeless individuals are excluded from this definition, including: unsheltered homeless individuals who were "doubled-up" in the homes of family or friends; and sheltered homeless individuals in jails, hospitals, and rehabilitation facilities.

Project Purpose and Goals

In 1987, President Ronald Reagan signed into law the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act, providing funding for a range of services to address homelessness. Since 2005, the U.S. Congress has required that local governments receiving federal funds under the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act must conduct PIT counts of their homeless populations every two years. HUD uses information from the local PIT counts, among other data sources, in the congressionally-mandated Annual Homeless Assessment Report to Congress (AHAR). This report is meant to inform Congress about the number of people experiencing homelessness in the United States and the effectiveness of HUD's programs and policies in decreasing those numbers.

In order to generate accurate and useful data about the local homeless population, the County of Santa Clara and its municipal governments carry out this homeless census and survey. The 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey Project Committee identified several important project goals:

- To preserve current federal funding for homeless services and to enhance the ability to raise new funds;
- To improve the ability of policy makers and service providers to plan and implement services that meet the needs of the local homeless population;
- To measure changes in the numbers and characteristics of the homeless population since the 2009
   Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey, and to track progress toward ending homelessness;
- To increase public awareness of overall homeless issues and generate support for constructive solutions; and
- To assess the status of chronic homelessness, homeless veterans, homeless families and unaccompanied homeless children and youth (without a guardian and under the age of 25).

The results of this research will assist service providers, policy makers, funders, and local, state, and federal governments to better understand and plan for the needs of the homeless population by examining current statistics in various geographical contexts. It is hoped that the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey will help policy makers and service providers to more effectively develop services and programs to serve the county's homeless population.

The data presented in this report provide an updated view of the homeless in Santa Clara County. Due to similarities in research methodologies, comparisons to the Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey results from 2007 and 2009 are provided where available.

POINT-IN-TIME COUNT AND ANNUAL ESTIMATION

The Point-in-Time (PIT) street count was conducted on January 25 and 26, 2011 from approximately 5:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. Census enumerators canvassed all 341 U.S. Census Tracts in the county. Shelters and institutions in the county reported their occupancies for the night of January 24, 2011. The number of homeless persons occupying emergency shelters, transitional housing, domestic violence shelters, and institutional housing were enumerated in conjunction with the street count. Special youth enumeration teams consisting of currently homeless youth, formerly homeless youth, and youth service providers enumerated unaccompanied homeless youth on the afternoons of January 25 and 26, 2011 from approximately 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. The number of unaccompanied homeless children and youth were integrated into the overall census findings.<sup>3</sup>

- A total of 7,067 homeless people were counted on January 25 and 26, 2011.
  - » Of those counted, the majority (73%) were unsheltered (5,169 individuals). This included individuals counted on the streets, as well as those estimated to be living in occupied cars, vans, RVs, encampments, and abandoned buildings counted by enumeration teams.<sup>4</sup>
  - » 27% were sheltered (1,898 individuals). This included individuals occupying emergency shelters, domestic violence shelters, and transitional housing facilities.
- Persons in families made up 12% of the 2011 PIT homeless population, compared to 14% in 2009.
  - » Persons in families accounted for 1% of the unsheltered homeless population,<sup>5</sup> and 41% of the sheltered population.
- The total number of homeless individuals enumerated in shelters decreased by 205 individuals since 2009.
  - » It should be noted that changes in the shelter count do not necessarily represent a loss of inventory in the county or city capacity, but rather methodological changes to the shelter count. In 2011, HUD asked that all Point-in-Time counts focus on shelters listed on HUD eSNAPS Housing Inventory Chart required of all Continuums. Changes within those shelters may also be due to re-classification of the bed "type" that reflects a programming or funding change for the shelter organization. This report does not attempt to analyze all longitudinal changes in homeless bed and family unit inventory nor their potential changing of funding sources. All shelter reporting is the result of agency self-reporting, HMIS comparison, and follow-up by ASR staff and the Census project committee's county and jurisdictional representatives. This includes a thorough comparison of the current inventory to previous reports including the annual HUD eSNAPS Housing Inventory Chart required of all Continuums.

&lt;sup>5</sup> HUD's definition of families includes only those individuals currently living with a child under the age of 18. For the unsheltered count, a group of homeless individuals were determined to be a family if the grouping included at least one child estimated to be under the age of 18 who was accompanied by at least one adult.

Between 2009 and 2011 the number of homeless individuals counted in emergency shelters decreased by 178 individuals and the number of homeless individuals counted in transitional housing and safe havens decreased by 27 individuals.<sup>6</sup>

Jurisdictional Data

As in previous years, the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census collected data on the geographic distribution of sheltered and unsheltered homeless families and individuals in Santa Clara County. This data allows for the assessment of program needs addressing homelessness at both the city and county levels. Data on the total number of sheltered and unsheltered families and individuals are presented in the following charts. It is important to recognize the way jurisdictional data is affected by the location of shelter facilities. Therefore, overall numbers are followed by separate sheltered and unsheltered counts.

County-Wide Annual Estimation

A Point-in-Time (PIT) homeless enumeration has an inherent bias of not capturing homeless persons who experience short episodes of homelessness at other times of the year. More people experience homelessness annually than can be counted at any given PIT, as people cycle in and out of homelessness. Counting only the homeless person found in a January census could under-represent homelessness for other months of the year.

Therefore, based on the survey responses of the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey, ASR used the annualization formula detailed by the Corporation for Supportive Housing to calculate an annual estimate of the number of homeless persons in Santa Clara County over the course of a year. This approach is the HUD-approved method for calculating the annual estimate of homeless persons based on the PIT count. Following is an explanation of the annualization calculation.

&lt;sup>1</sup> It should be noted that some changes in the shelter count do not represent a loss of inventory in the county or city capacity, but rather a reclassification of the bed "type" that reflects a programming or funding change for the shelter organization. This report does not attempt to analyze all longitudinal changes in homeless bed and family unit inventory nor their potential changing funding sources. All shelter reporting is the result of agency self-reporting, HMIS comparison and follow-up by ASR staff and the Census project committee's county and jurisdictional representatives. This includes a thorough comparison of the current inventory to previous reports including the annual HUD eSNAPS Housing Inventory Chart required of all continuums.

Three factors were used to determine the annual estimate:9

- A = The PIT count of currently homeless people (found in the street and shelter count)
- B = The number of currently homeless people who became homeless within the last 7 days; and
- C = The proportion of currently homeless people who have experienced a previous homeless episode within the past 12 months.

The equation for calculating the annual estimate: A + [(B*51)*(1 - C)] = Annual estimate

■ For Santa Clara County in 2011:  $7,067 + [(338.16*51)*(1-0.349)] = 18,329.31 \approx 18,329$  persons

The annual estimate for the number of homeless people in Santa Clara County was 18,329 persons. This was slightly lower than the 2009 annual estimate of 18,549 persons.

Based on the 2010 U.S. Census population profile, this annual estimate of homelessness represented 1% of Santa Clara County's total population of 1,781,642 people.<sup>10</sup>

The decrease in the annual estimate was due to a lower percentage of homeless individuals who had become homeless within the 7 days prior to the survey (variable "B"). In 2009, 5.2% of the currently homeless population became homeless in the week prior to the survey. In 2011, the percentage decreased to 4.8%, resulting in a larger "B" variable in the PIT-to-annual estimate calculations. This indicates that while more people are experiencing homelessness in Santa Clara County than in 2009, they are not cycling in and out of homelessness quickly. Instead, they are experiencing homelessness for an extended period of time.

HOMELESS SURVEY FINDINGS

This section provides an overview of the findings generated from the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Survey. Surveys were administered between January 27th and March 26th, 2011, providing 1,014 completed, unique surveys. Based on a Point-in-Time estimate of 7,067 homeless persons, the 1,014 valid surveys represent a confidence interval of +/- 3% with a 95% confidence level when generalizing the results of the survey to the estimated homeless population in Santa Clara County. Due to the sensitive nature of survey questions, respondents were not required to answer every survey question. Respondents were also asked to skip questions that did not apply to them. These missing values have been intentionally omitted from the survey results. Therefore, the total number of respondents for each question (N) will not always equal the total number of surveys (1,014).<sup>11</sup>

Demographics

In order to elicit information on the diversity of homeless residents in Santa Clara County, respondents were asked several demographic questions pertaining to their age, gender, ethnicity, and family status.

Gender

68% were male and 31% were female.

Age

- 44% were between 41-60 years old.
- 3% were youth under the age of 18.

Race/Ethnicity

- 39% of homeless survey respondents identified their racial/ethnic group as White/Caucasian, followed by 31% Hispanic/Latino, and 17% Black/African American.
- 6% of homeless survey respondents were Vietnamese, Pacific Islander or Other Asian.
- 2% of homeless survey respondents were American Indian/Alaskan Native.
- 5% of homeless survey respondents were Other/Multi-ethnic.
- Compared to the overall county population, there were higher percentages of Whites/Caucasians, Hispanics/Latinos, and Blacks/African Americans in the 2011 homeless survey population, and a lower percentage of Asians.<sup>12</sup>
  - » In 2010, 35% of all Santa Clara County residents were White/Caucasian, 27% were Hispanic/Latino, 2% were Black/African American, and 32% were Asian.

Employment and Income

The 2011 U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Federal Poverty Level (FPL) for one person is approximately $10,890 per year. However, the local self-sufficiency standard is a more realistic measure of the true cost of living. The self-sufficiency standard is a measure of income adequacy that calculates how much income working adults need to meet their family's basic needs without subsidies. While the FPL for one person is approximately $908 per month, the self-sufficiency standard for a single person in Santa Clara County is $2,353 per month.

As seen previously, a lack of income, whether from the loss of a job, or disabling condition, has a great impact on homeless persons in Santa Clara County. In 2011, some respondents were able to earn income from employment, others were receiving income from sources such as public assistance or disability benefits. However, many respondents were receiving little or no income from either government or private sources.

Employment Status

- 89% of respondents, who did not indicate they were retired or students, reported that they were not employed at the time of the survey; this was slightly higher than 2009 (84%).
  - » 9% were employed part-time and less than 2% were employed full-time.
  - » 3% of the overall survey population indicated they were retired and 3% reported being students.

Government Assistance

- Between 2009 and 2011, the percentage of respondents who were receiving some form of government assistance increased from 51% to 64%.<sup>23</sup>

HMIS Registration

The Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) is a software application designed to record and store client-level information on the characteristics and service needs of homeless persons. The system allows homeless assistance providers to coordinate care, manage their operations, and better serve their clients. HUD and other planners and policymakers at the federal, state, and local levels use aggregate HMIS data to obtain better information about the extent and nature of homelessness over time. With time, it is hoped that HMIS can be used to produce an unduplicated count of homeless persons, understand patterns of service use, and measure the effectiveness of homeless programs.<sup>25</sup>

- In 2011, less than half (48%) of survey respondents were registered in HMIS.
  - » 514 survey respondents were not registered in HMIS.

Chronic Health Problems

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the average life expectancy of Americans is 78 years. In 2005, a study released by the National Health Care for the Homeless Council, looked at homeless mortality rates in seven cities throughout the United States, Canada and Europe, and found that the average life expectancy for a person without permanent housing was between 42 and 52 years. The study also indicated that premature death often results from acute and chronic medical conditions aggravated by homeless life.<sup>26</sup>

Between 2009 and 2011, the percentage of respondents who indicated that they were experiencing chronic health problems increased from 14% to 19%.

HUD DEFINED HOMELESS SUBPOPULATIONS

Chronic Homelessness

The mortality rate for chronically homeless men and women is four to nine times higher than for the general population and those experiencing long-term homelessness often incur significant public costs – through emergency room visits, run-ins with law enforcement, incarceration, and access to existing poverty and homeless programs.<sup>29</sup> In 2011, the federal government announced a 5-year plan to end chronic homelessness. The plan focuses on permanent supportive housing, reducing financial instability, and improving heath and housing stability.<sup>30</sup>

HUD defines a chronically homeless person or family as an unaccompanied homeless individual (18 or older) with a disabling condition or a family with at least one adult member (18 or older), who has a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years.

For the purposes of this study, a disabling condition was defined as a physical or developmental disability, mental illness, severe depression,<sup>31</sup> Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), chronic health problems, HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, Hepatitis C, or substance abuse. Those currently living in transitional housing are not considered by HUD to be chronically homeless.

- It is estimated that on any given night in 2011, Santa Clara County has approximately 2,520 chronically homeless persons. This represents an 11% increase from 2,270 chronically homeless persons in 2009.
  - » This increase in chronically homeless individuals was primarily due to the increased percentage of respondents who had a disabling condition. Between 2009 and 2011, the percentage increased from 67% to 70%.
- The number of chronically homeless individuals represents 36% of total homeless population in 2011, compared to 32% in 2009 and 17% nationwide in 2009.
- The large majority (91%) of chronically homeless individuals were unsheltered in 2011.
- In 2011, HUD expanded the definition of chronic homelessness to include families. It is estimated that on any given night in 2011, there are 35 persons in chronically homeless families in Santa Clara County.

Veterans

National data shows that only eight percent (8%) of the general U.S. population can claim veteran status, but nearly one-fifth of the nation's homeless population is estimated to be veterans.<sup>32</sup>

In general, veterans have high rates of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), traumatic brain injury, and sexual trauma, which can lead to higher risk for homelessness. About half of homeless veterans have serious mental illness and 70% have substance abuse problems.<sup>33</sup> Half of homeless veterans have histories of involvement with the legal system. Veterans are more likely to live outdoors, unsheltered, and experience long-term, chronic homelessness.<sup>34</sup>

The United States Interagency Council on Homelessness is facilitating collaborative efforts by the U.S. Department of Veteran's Affairs (VA), HUD, Labor, and Housing and Human Services (HHS) to align resources for greater effectiveness by bringing together programs that would otherwise operate separately. This year was the first year the VA will use the national HUD Point-in-Time counts as the definitive count of homeless veterans. This year, the VA recommended two questions to determine Veterans Status: "Have you ever served in the U.S. Armed Forces?" and "Were you activated into active duty, as a member of the National Guard or as a reservist?"

Number of Homeless Veterans

- It is estimated that on any given night in 2011, Santa Clara County has a homeless veteran population of 667 persons. This represents about 10% of the total point-in-time homeless population.
  - » In 2009, the number of homeless veterans estimated (866) represented 12% of the total 2009 point-in-time homeless population.

Homeless Families

National reports reveal that one of the fastest growing segments of the homeless population is families with children. Families, single mothers, and children make up the largest group of people who are homeless in rural areas.<sup>38</sup> Children in families experiencing homelessness have high rates of acute and chronic health problems and exposure to violence. Homeless children are more likely to have emotional and behavioral problems than children with consistent living accommodations.<sup>39</sup> Homeless families are difficult to include in Point-in Time counts as they often reside in places that are difficult to find, including vehicles and public property. The difficulty in locating homeless families is reflected in the Point-in-Time count.

Number of Homeless Families

Between 2009 and 2011, the number of homeless persons in families decreased by 17% from 1,008 to 833 persons.

Unaccompanied Homeless Children and Youth

"Unaccompanied Children" are children under the age of 18 who are homeless and living independent of a parent or legal guardian. Homeless Youth are defined as individuals between the ages of 18 and 24 years old. Identifying and including unaccompanied homeless children and youth in the annual PIT count is challenging. Data on the population (local and national) are extremely limited. What little data are available suggest the negative effects of homelessness on children are high and those experiencing homelessness face even greater challenges than their adult counterparts. They have a harder time accessing services, including shelter, medical care, and employment.<sup>41</sup>

As in 2009, the County of Santa Clara increased their outreach to homeless youth and service providers to include unaccompanied children and youth in the 2011 homeless census and survey. A youth-focused street count took place in the afternoon of January 25 and 26, 2011, from approximately 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., when children were more likely to be visible in the community. ASR worked with local youth service providers and hired local homeless youth to assist in conducting the count based on the belief that they had particular knowledge and access to areas where homeless children and youth congregate. In addition to being counted as part of the census, unaccompanied children and youth took the basic two-page survey and answered 28 additional survey questions that asked specifically about their circumstances as unaccompanied children. The following section details results of both the youth specific count and survey.

Number and Characteristics

• In 2011, a total of 762 unaccompanied homeless children and youth were counted in Santa Clara County. This represents 11% of the total homeless population.

CONCLUSION

The 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey was performed using HUD-recommended practices for counting the homeless population. This important effort provided valid and useful data regarding the homeless community in Santa Clara County. The 2011 enumeration built upon previous efforts which allowed for the compilation of comparable multi-year data on the experience of homelessness in Santa Clara County. Continued use of this methodology allows for the tracking of key indicators and gauge the changing conditions experienced by homeless individuals and families throughout the county.

It is hoped that the data presented in this report will be used by planning bodies of the County of Santa Clara, the City of San Jose, and other organizations within the county to inform additional outreach, service planning, and policy decision-making over the next two years as they continue to address homelessness. It is also hoped that this report will be disseminated to other jurisdictions and educational research institutions in order to gain feedback on the methodologies used and results obtained. By sharing and evaluating this enumeration effort and its results, the homeless support network in Santa Clara County will be better able to produce constructive and innovative solutions to a problem that clearly affects many people in the community.

APPENDIX I: HOMELESS CENSUS AND SURVEY METHODOLOGY

Overview

The purpose of the 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Census and Survey was to produce a Point-in-Time (PIT) estimate of the number of people in Santa Clara County who experience homelessness. The results of the street count were combined with the results from the shelter count to produce the total number of homeless people in Santa Clara County. A more detailed description of the methodology used for the homeless census and survey follows.

Components of the Homeless Count Method

The census methodology had two components:

- The street count: an enumeration of unsheltered homeless individuals.
- The shelter and institution count: an enumeration of sheltered homeless individuals.

Street Count Methodology

Definition

For the purposes of this study, the HUD definition of an unsheltered homeless person was used: someone who is living on the streets, in a vehicle, encampment, abandoned building, unconverted garage, or any other place not normally used or meant for human habitation.

Research Design

Santa Clara County covers approximately 1,291 square miles.<sup>44</sup> The logistics for conducting a PIT street count of homeless people in a county this large and densely populated required the enumeration to take place over a two-day period. The purpose of the street count was to conduct an enumeration of unsheltered homeless people over a specific measure of time. The unsheltered and sheltered homeless counts were coordinated to occur within the same time period in order to minimize potential duplicate counting of homeless persons.

Volunteer and Worker Recruitment

An enumeration effort of this magnitude can only be successful with the assistance of those who possess an intimate knowledge of the activities and locations of homeless people. Therefore, the recruitment and training of homeless persons to work as enumerators was an essential part of the street count methodology. Previous research has shown that homeless people, teamed with staff members from homeless service agencies, can be part of a productive and reliable work force.

To work on the street count, prospective enumerators were required to attend a 1-hour information and training session. Training sessions were held at multiple locations throughout Santa Clara County during the week prior to the street count. These sessions were attended primarily by homeless persons, staff from homeless service agencies; and staff from the County of Santa Clara, the City of San Jose, and the City of Palo Alto. The techniques and methods used to identify and enumerate unsheltered homeless persons were reviewed during these training sessions.

Homeless persons who completed the required training session were paid $10.00 on the morning they reported to work for the street count. Homeless workers were also paid $10.00 per hour for their work on the count, and were reimbursed for any expenses (mainly transportation costs) they incurred during the hours they worked. In total, 250 homeless persons, homeless service providers, city and county workers, and community volunteers were recruited and trained. Due to illness and unforeseen circumstances, 208 guides and volunteers participated in the two day count.

Street Count Teams

On the mornings of the census, two-person teams were created to enumerate designated areas of the county for the street count. A team was ideally composed of one volunteer and one homeless person who had attended a training and information session. Given the expertise each team member brought to working in the field, the "volunteer/homeless worker" teamwork concept was especially beneficial for the street count.

Street count teams were provided with census tract maps of their assigned areas, census tally sheets, a review of the census training documents and techniques, and other supplies. Prior to deployment, volunteers and workers were provided with a reminder of how to enumerate thoroughly without disturbing homeless people or anyone else encountered during the street census. Over the two-day census period, all 341 census tracts in Santa Clara County were enumerated.

Safety Precautions

Every effort was made to minimize potentially hazardous situations. Precautions were taken to prepare a safe environment in all deployment centers. Law enforcement districts were notified of pending street count activity in their jurisdictions. No official reports were received in regards to unsafe or at-risk situations occurring during the street census in any area of the county.

Street Count Deployment

Since it was necessary to conduct the enumeration over a period of two days, January 25 and 26, 2011, Santa Clara County was divided into two areas: the area to the east of Highway 17 and Interstate 880 and the area to the west of these freeways. On January 25, the cities of Gilroy and Morgan Hill, portions of the cities of Campbell, Los Gatos, Milpitas, San Jose, and the unincorporated areas in the eastern and southwestern parts of the county were enumerated. The following morning, January 26, remaining portions of the cities of Campbell, Milpitas, Los Gatos, and San Jose; the cities of Cupertino, Monte Sereno, Mountain View, Los Altos, Los Altos Hills, Palo Alto, Saratoga, Sunnyvale, Santa Clara, and the unincorporated areas in the northwestern part of the county were enumerated.

The two-day enumeration effort was conducted between the hours of 5:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. This early morning enumeration strategy was selected in order to avoid duplicate counting of sheltered homeless persons and to increase the visibility of the street homeless.

Volunteers and County of Santa Clara staff used personal or agency vehicles to transport homeless workers and volunteers to and from assigned census tracts (some homeless workers did provide their own transportation). All accessible streets, roads, and highways in the enumerated tracts were traveled by foot, bike, or car. Homeless persons were counted and tallied according to these observed categories:

Ind	lividuals:	Fai	mily Members:	No	tations:
»	Adult male	»	Adult male	»	Vehicles (cars, vans, RV's, campers, etc.)
»	Adult female	»	Adult female	»	Encampments
»	Unaccompanied Children (under age 18)	»	Children (under age 18)	»	Abandoned buildings
»	Youth (age 18-24)			»	Persons reported by park ranger
»	Adults of undetermined gender

Homeless enumerators were also instructed to include themselves on their tally sheets for the street count, if they were not going to be counted by a shelter or institutional census.

Upon their return, teams turned in their census tally forms and were debriefed by the deployment captains. Observational comments and the integrity of the enumeration effort were reviewed and assessed. This review was primarily done to check for double-counting (i.e., counting a family as both family members and individuals) and to verify that every accessible road within the assigned area was enumerated.

No direct contact with enumerated homeless people was made during the census enumeration. To avoid potential duplicate counting of unsheltered and sheltered homeless persons, it was imperative to enumerate during the narrow timeframe when sheltered and unsheltered homeless do not co-mingle. Administering the survey in conjunction with the census would have taken up too much of this narrow timeframe, thereby increasing the likelihood of duplication between the street and sheltered homeless counts and thus jeopardizing the accuracy of the census. Thus, observation-only enumeration strategies were employed during the census, and the survey component of this project began after the census was completed.

Unaccompanied youth tend to be difficult to enumerate in the morning census, since they do not usually co-mingle with the adult homeless population. For this reason, special youth enumeration teams consisting of homeless youth and formerly homeless youth were formed to enumerate unaccompanied homeless youth. These youth enumerators were deployed from the Bill Wilson Drop-In Center and were given a general geographical area in Santa Clara County to count rather than specific census tract maps. These teams counted between 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. when homeless youth are most likely to be visible on the streets. They enumerated unaccompanied homeless children under age 18 and youth 18 to 24-years-old. The teams kept track of the locations where the homeless youth were sighted by recording the nearest intersection. Compared to the general street census results, the youth teams found considerably more unaccompanied homeless youth and in locations different from where unaccompanied youth were found in the morning effort. Therefore the research team felt there was little worry of duplication. The youth enumerated by these special teams were assigned census tract locations post-facto and were integrated into the overall countywide enumeration results.

Although any homeless enumeration is vulnerable to an undercount, all of the people, vehicles, encampments, and abandoned buildings tallied during the Point-in-Time street count were visually observed by enumerators. By reporting only what was observed, ASR and Santa Clara County are highly confident that the street count results are as accurate and as valid as possible. There are no means to ensure that those enumerated were actually members of the homeless population. However, when potential enumerators were polled during the training sessions, most trainees, especially homeless workers, indicated they would have no difficulty in telling the difference between an unsheltered homeless person and a member of the general public.

Shelter and Institution Count Methodology

Goal

The goal of the shelter count was to gain an accurate count of the number of homeless persons who were being temporarily housed in shelters and other institutions across Santa Clara County. These data were vital to gaining an accurate overall count of the homeless population and understanding where homeless persons received shelter.

Data Collection

The basic approach was to identify and contact agencies that temporarily house homeless people and request that those agencies send ASR a count of the number of homeless persons housed in their programs on the night of January 24, 2011. In 2011, the participating shelters were determined by those listed on the Housing Inventory Chart reported to HUD. Participating agencies included:

- Emergency Shelters
- Transitional Housing Facilities
- Safe Havens

Shelter facilities reported their occupancies for the night prior to the first day of enumeration to Applied Survey Research (ASR) by an online survey, paper survey, or telephone call.

Homeless Census Challenges and Assumptions

Challenges

There are many challenges in any homeless enumeration, especially when implemented in a community as diverse and large as Santa Clara County. While homeless populations are usually concentrated around city emergency shelters and homeless service facilities, homeless individuals and families can also be found in suburbs, commercial districts, and outlying county areas that are not easily accessed by enumerators. Homeless populations include many difficult-to-count subsets such as:

- Chronically homeless persons who may or may not access social, health, or shelter services;
- Persons living in vehicles who relocate every few days;
- Persons who have children and therefore stay "under the radar" for fear of having to turn their children over to Child Protective Services;
- Homeless youth, who tend to keep themselves less visible than homeless adults;
- Homeless people who live in isolated rural areas; and
- Homeless people who sleep in unfit structures.

Census Undercount

Additional challenges included a lack of community support and participation. In 2011, the number of community members and service providers able to provide support on the days of the count affected the overall ease of this great undertaking.

For a variety of reasons, homeless persons generally do not want to be seen, and make concerted efforts to avoid detection. Regardless of how successful the outreach effort is, an undercount of the homeless population will result, especially of hard-to-reach subpopulations such as unaccompanied youth and families.

In a non-intrusive, Point-in-Time, visual homeless enumeration, the methods employed, while academically sound, have inherent biases and shortcomings. Even with the assistance of dedicated homeless service providers and currently or previously homeless census enumerators, the methodology cannot guarantee 100% accuracy. Many factors may contribute to missed opportunities, for example:

- Homeless individuals often occupy abandoned buildings and other structures unfit for human habitation.
- Homeless youth are suspected to keep a distance from the general homeless population, for their own safety.
- Homeless families with children often seek opportunities to stay on private property, rather than sleep on the streets, in vehicles, or makeshift shelters.
- It can be difficult to identify homeless persons who may be sleeping in vans, cars, or recreational vehicles.

By counting the minimum number of homeless persons on the streets at a given Point-in-Time, the homeless census methodology is conservative and therefore most likely results in an undercount of homeless persons with immigration issues, the working homeless, families, and street youth. This conservative approach is necessary to preserve the integrity of the data collected. Even though the census is most likely to be an undercount of the homeless population, the methodology employed, coupled with the homeless survey, is the most comprehensive approach available and does provide valuable data for local and federal service agencies.

Assumptions of Annual Estimation

The calculations used to project an annual estimate of homelessness are based on two very important assumptions.

- 1) The information gathered by the homeless survey is indicative of responses that would have been given at any other time during the year and is representative of the general diversity of the study area's homeless population.
- 2) The Point-in-Time census count is reasonably indicative of a count that would have been obtained at any other time during the year.

Service providers have supported these assumptions by indicating that the demand for services stayed relatively consistent over time. Additionally, the total number of homeless accessing services does not fluctuate to a great degree, although the proportion of sheltered versus unsheltered homeless does vary with the seasons.

Estimates of the number of people who experience homelessness in a given year are important for planning purposes and HUD reporting requirements. Because many homeless experiences are relatively short-term (i.e., less than a year), it is important to account for this phenomenon when determining the annual demand for homeless services.

Given the size of the survey sample (1,014 persons), the statistical reliability of the projections, the undercount inherent in any homeless census, as well as the use of a HUD-approved annualization calculation, the project committee and ASR have determined that this methodology was the most complete and accurate of all available approaches.

Survey Methodology

Planning and Implementation

The survey of 1,014 homeless persons was conducted in order to yield qualitative data about the homeless community in Santa Clara County. These data were used for the McKinney-Vento Continuum of Care Homeless Assistance funding application and are important for future program development and planning. The survey elicited information such as gender, family status, military service, length and recurrence of homelessness, usual nighttime accommodations, causes of homelessness, and access to services through open-ended, closed-ended, and multiple response questions. The survey data bring greater perspective to current issues of homelessness and to the provision and delivery of services. The survey findings also provide a measure of the changes in the composition of the homeless population since 2009.

In addition to the general survey, youth under the age of 25 were given an additional 28 questions, which asked specifically about their experience as homeless children and youth. In total, 200 of the 1,014 surveys were conducted with youth. These surveys were conducted by other homeless youth workers in order to maintain the peer-to-peer protocol. The overall protocol for youth surveys was similar to the general survey; however youth under the age of 18 were asked to sign an informed consent document and were given the option of filling out surveys on their own.

Surveys were conducted by homeless workers and service provider volunteers who were trained by ASR. Training sessions led potential interviewers through a comprehensive orientation that included project background information and detailed instruction on respondent eligibility, interviewing protocol, and confidentiality. Because of confidentiality and privacy issues, service providers typically conducted the surveys administered within shelters. No self-administered surveys were accepted from individuals over the age of 18 in order to maintain a standardized and consistent protocol. Homeless workers were compensated at a rate of $5.00 per completed survey.

It was determined that survey data would be more easily collected if an incentive gift was offered to respondents in appreciation for their time and participation. A small duffle bag was selected as an incentive to participate in the survey. These bags were easy to obtain and distribute, were thought to have wide appeal, and could be provided within the project budget. This approach enabled surveys to be conducted at anytime during the day.

Survey Sampling

In order to select a random sample of respondents, survey workers were trained to employ a randomized "every third encounter" survey approach. Survey workers were instructed to approach the third person they encountered whom they considered to be an eligible survey respondent.<sup>45</sup> If the person declined to take the survey, the survey worker could approach the next eligible person they encountered. After completing a survey, the randomized approach was resumed.

The survey workers also maintained a record of the number of refusals. Overall, the majority (72%) of surveys were completed without receiving any refusals. Twenty-two percent (22%) of surveys had between one and three refusals. The remaining 6% had four or more refusals. The use of the randomized sampling strategy was an attempt to minimize bias in the selection of survey respondents.

Strategic attempts were made to reach individuals in various geographic locations and of various subset groups such as homeless youth, minority ethnic groups, military veterans, domestic violence victims, and families, including recruiting survey workers from these subset groups. As part of the youth homeless enumeration effort, a team of eight homeless youth were trained to administer surveys to other homeless youth.

Trained homeless interviewers administered surveys to the "street" homeless. These workers were used as interviewers because they were familiar with the conditions, challenges, and likely locations of homeless persons, and they may therefore be more likely to obtain survey question responses from the homeless respondents. This peer-to-peer approach may also encourage more candid responses by lessening the suspicion or apprehension of the respondent and helping to build rapport between the survey worker and respondent. Interviewers were asked to inquire if the homeless person had already taken the survey, and if not, if they were willing to do so, knowing there was a "thank you" gift at the completion of the survey. Workers were also asked to remain unbiased at all times, make no assumptions or prompts, keep all responses anonymous and confidential, and ask all questions, but allow respondents to skip any question they did not feel comfortable answering.

 $<sup>^{45}</sup>$  The survey method of systematically interviewing every  $n^{\text{th}}$  person encountered in a location is recommended by HUD in their publication, A Guide to Counting Unsheltered Homeless People, Second Revision, January 2008, p. 37.

Surveys were also administrated in shelters and transitional housing programs. In order to assure the representation of transitional housing residents, who can be underrepresented in a street-based survey, survey quotas were created to reach individuals and heads of family households living in these programs. Eleven transitional housing facilities throughout Santa Clara County, including family- and youth-focused programs, participated in the survey effort. Typically, program staff conducted those surveys. The same survey was used in both shelter and street environments. Altogether, approximately 35% of all survey respondents were sheltered homeless, and the remaining 65% were unsheltered homeless.

Based on a Point-in-Time estimate of 7,067 homeless persons, with a randomized survey sampling process, the 1,014 valid surveys represent a confidence interval of  $\pm$  3% with a 95% confidence level when generalizing the results of the survey to the estimated population of homeless individuals in Santa Clara County.

Data Collection

Care was taken by interviewers to ensure that respondents felt comfortable regardless of the street or shelter location where the survey occurred. During the interviews, respondents were encouraged to be candid in their responses and were informed that these responses would be framed as general findings, would be kept confidential, and would not be traceable to any one individual.

Overall, the interviewers experienced excellent cooperation from respondents. This was likely influenced by the fact that nearly all of the street interviewers were homeless workers who had previously been, or were currently, fellow members of the homeless community. Another reason for interview cooperation may have been the incentive gift, which was given to respondents upon the completion of the interview.

Data Analysis

Survey Administration Details

- The 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Survey was administered by the trained survey team between February 6, 2011 and March 24, 2011.
- The majority (74%) of surveys did not have any refusals.
- The sample of valid surveys totaled 1,014.

In order to avoid potential duplication of respondents, the survey requested respondents' initials and date of birth, so that duplication could be avoided without compromising the respondents' anonymity. Upon completion of the survey effort, an extensive verification process was conducted to eliminate duplicates. This process examined respondents' date of birth, initials, gender, ethnicity, and length of homelessness, and consistencies in patterns of responses to other questions on the survey. This left 1,014 valid surveys for analysis. Due to the sensitive nature of the survey, respondents were not required to answer every survey question and respondents were asked to skip questions that were not applicable. For this reason, the number of respondents for each survey questions may not total 1, 014.

Survey Challenges and Limitations

The 2011 Santa Clara County Homeless Survey did not include an equal representation of all homeless experiences. However, as mentioned previously, based on a Point-in-Time estimate of 7,067 homeless persons, the 1,014 valid surveys represent a confidence interval of  $\pm$  3% with a 95% confidence level when generalizing the results of the survey to the estimated homeless population in Santa Clara County. These confidences can be applied to the survey findings because the survey was randomly administered.

In self-reporting survey research, as was conducted by this survey, there is always some room for misrepresentation. Since there is no mechanism to separate truth from fiction in survey responses, it is important to make every effort to elicit the most truthful responses from interviewees. Using a peer interviewing methodology is believed to allow the respondents to be more candid with their answers, and may help reduce the uneasiness of revealing personal information. It should be noted that the responses provided for this survey are consistent based on reviews by service providers who:

- Selected reliable interviewers who had completed a comprehensive training, and
- Reviewed the surveys and ensured quality responses.

Surveys that were considered incomplete or containing false responses were not accepted, and the interviewer was not compensated.

APPENDIX VI: SUMMARY FOR THE CONTINUUM OF CARE APPLICATION

The purpose of the following summaries is to provide local jurisdictions with consolidated information to facilitate the completion of the application for Continuum of Care (CoC) funds. The following summaries are based directly upon the results discussed in the body of the report. Please note that the information on the sheltered homeless populations and subpopulations contained in the tables below reflects only those people counted in emergency shelters and transitional housing. Under the HUD definition of homelessness, those housed in jails, hospitals, rehabilitation facilities, or who are living "doubled-up" in a house, do not qualify as homeless.

Homeless Subpopulations

The following table further breaks down the census data into subpopulations. These data are based on both the homeless census and data from the homeless survey. The results in the following chart are estimates, calculated by applying the survey results to the Point-in-Time homeless census population.

Part 2: Homeless Subpopulations	Sheltered	Unsheltered	Total
1. Chronically homeless <sup>1</sup>
a. Chronically homeless individuals	225	2,295	2,520
b. Chronically homeless families	0	35	35
2. Severely mentally ill	595	1,760	2,355
3. Chronic substance abuse	624	2,365	2,989
4. Veterans	152	515	667
5. Persons with HIV/AIDS	18	130	148
6. Victims of domestic violence	150	525	675
7. Unaccompanied children (Under 18 years of age) <sup>2</sup>	65	145	210

APPENDIX VII: DEFINITIONS AND ABBREVIATIONS

Chronic homelessness is defined by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs as "an unaccompanied homeless individual (18 or older) with a disabling condition or a family with at least one adult member (18 or older) who has a disabling condition who has either been continuously homeless for a year or more OR has had at least four (4) episodes of homelessness in the past three (3) years."

Disabling condition, for the purposes of this study, was defined as a physical or developmental disability, mental illness, severe depression, Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), chronic health problems, HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, Hepatitis C, or substance abuse.

Emergency shelter is the provision of a safe alternative to the streets, either in a shelter facility, or through the use of motel vouchers. Emergency shelter is short-term, usually for 30 days or less. Domestic violence shelters are typically considered a type of emergency shelter, as they provide safe, immediate housing for victims and their children.

Family is defined by HUD as either an adult couple or a single adult with one or more minor children present.

Homeless persons, according to the Stewart B. McKinney Act of 1987, are people who lack a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence; and have a primary nighttime residence that is either a public or private shelter; an institution that provides temporary residence for individuals intended to be institutionalized; or a public or private location that is not designed for, or ordinarily used as, a regular sleeping accommodation for human beings.

HUD is an abbreviation for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sheltered homeless individuals are those homeless individuals who are living in emergency shelters or transitional housing programs.

Single individual refers to an unaccompanied adult or youth.

Transitional housing facilitates the movement of homeless individuals and families to permanent housing. It is housing in which homeless individuals may live up to 24 months and receive supportive services that enable them to live more independently. Supportive services – which help promote residential stability, increased skill level or income, and greater self-determination – may be provided by the organization managing the housing, or coordinated by that organization and provided by other public or private agencies. Transitional housing can be provided in one structure or several structures at one site, or in multiple structures at scattered sites.

Unsheltered homeless persons are those homeless persons who are living on the streets, in abandoned buildings, storage structures, vehicles, encampments, or any other place unfit for human habitation.
