Learn more about the disparity study and share your experiences doing business or attempting to do business with the City or prime vendors contracted by the City. Private sessions are available.

Your participation can impact policies and identify ways to elevate economic equity for businesses in San José.

Interpretation services will be available in Spanish, Vietnamese, and Chinese.

About the Disparity Study

The City of San José is conducting a disparity study to better understand how minority-, women-, disabled veteran-, and LGBTQ+- owned businesses participate in its contracting policies and practices.

Led by MGT Consulting, the study will determine if there are barriers preventing diverse businesses from working with the City or the City's prime vendors and identify how processes could be more accessible and inclusive for all San José businesses.
