STEVENS CREEK URBAN VILLAGE

Community Open House

The City of San José Planning Division invites you to join us for a Community Open House (Workshop # 3) to review the final draft plan document for the Stevens Creek Urban Village. This Urban Village Plan was developed using the community input received at previous workshops, on-line engagement, and Stevens Creek Advisory Group meetings. This is the final community meeting before presenting these draft documents before the Planning Commission and City Council at their public hearings.

The Stevens Creek Urban Village is located in western San Jose along the south side of Stevens Creek Boulevard generally between Lawrence Expressway and Winchester Boulevard.

ANALYSIS

Operating Agreement

In 2012, at the direction of City Council, the City entered into a modified special use permit/land lease agreement with the USFS. This modified agreement allowed for a reduced term of five years in lieu of the standard 20-year lease agreement. The modified permit was sought in determining whether continuing the Family Camp program was financially sustainable for the City before entering into the national standard USFS permit agreement for a 20-year period. The current permit expired December 31, 2016, and the draft of the new permit is currently under review. The approval of a 20-year lease agreement, along with the Master Development Plan, brings a collaborative approach to managing camp with the USFS.

Projects outlined in the MDP have started. The roofs on the dining hall and manager's house were replaced in September 2016. Bear-proof trash receptacles have been approved for purchase and are on order for delivery and installation in Spring 2017. Restroom maintenance, signage upgrades and concrete and asphalt repairs are scheduled for 2017 as well.

Occupancy and Financial Performance

Family Camp has experienced two significant setbacks over the past years, which have impacted occupancy and financial performance. The first setback was related to structural repairs to the dining hall, which caused the entire camp to be closed for the 2010 summer season. This closure impacted occupancy, reducing the rate from 89 percent in 2009 to 39 percent in 2013. The second setback was the 2013 Rim Fire. Fortunately, the fire avoided most of Family Camp. The devastation of the surrounding areas, and the work needed to re-open camp, impacted both the 2013 and 2014 summer seasons.

Since these setbacks, Family Camp has seen an increase in occupancy and revenue and the 2016 season entailed dramatic growth on both fronts. The following table outlines program performance, participation, and cost recovery percentages for the last four years, and the prediction for the 2017 season (estimated 5 percent growth per year). With recent changes to the support staff, programming, and outreach, a 100 percent occupancy rate may be achieved as program awareness and demand increases.

| Season | Occupancy Rate | Summer Campers | Revenue   | Expenditures | Direct Cost Recovery % |
|--------|----------------|----------------|-----------|--------------|------------------------|
| 2013   | 39%            | 1,874          | $335,755 | $484,012    | 69%                    |
| 2014   | 45%            | 1,705          | $404,442 | $668,693    | 60%                    |
| 2015   | 47%            | 1,794          | $444,417 | $681,527    | 65%                    |
| 2016   | 59%            | 2,853          | $554,535 | $690,000    | 80%                    |
| 2017   | 62%            | 3,000          | $580,000 | $650,000    | 89%                    |

The Park and Recreation System in San José, California Provides Millions in Economic Benefits

San José, California, the preeminent city of Silicon Valley, has a large natural and developed park system that provides beauty, recreational opportunities, access to nature, and positive environmental impacts to residents, workers, and tourists alike. In fact, parks are so important to the success of San José, that many people have asked how much economic value they bring. Thanks to a new study by The Trust for Public Land, the specifics of that value are now known.

Parks, trails, and community centers

San José contains almost 3,500 acres of city parkland and over 12,500 acres of county and federal preserves. This vast system provides unparalleled opportunities for walking, hiking, bicycling, swimming, playing sports, picnicking, and much more. It offers neighborhood and community parks, playfields, courts, golf courses, natural spaces, dog parks, skate parks, community centers, off-road trails, and the Happy Hollow Park and Zoo.

Enhancing property values

Parks and trails enhance the value of nearby residential properties because people enjoy living close to recreational amenities and are willing to pay for proximity. San José parks raise the value of nearby residential properties by $1 billion and increase property tax revenues by $12.1 million a year.

Providing essential natural goods and services

Parks reduce stormwater by capturing precipitation, slowing its runoff, and reducing the volume of water that enters the stormwater system. Parks in San José provide stormwater management valued at $6.43 million annually.

Trees and shrubs in parks remove air pollutants that endanger human health and damage structures. Parks in San José provide health benefits and reduce pollution control costs by $1.18 million per year.

Generating health care cost savings

Independent research shows that park use translates into increased physical activity, resulting in medical care costs savings. Approximately 24,000 adult residents use San José's parks, trails, and community centers to engage in physical activity at a level sufficient to generate measureable health benefits, yielding annual medical cost savings of $28.3 million.

Offering recreational opportunities and attracting talented workers

Residents also enjoy San José parks, trails, and community centers. Each year residents of San José receive a benefit of $51.2 million for access to reduced or no cost recreational opportunities at park facilities.

San José parks, trails, and community centers make the city an attractive place to live and work. Skilled workers are attracted to places like San José for its open space, clean air and water, and ample opportunities for outdoor recreation.

Boosting the local tourism economy

The Trust for Public Land estimates that approximately 7.7 percent of visitors to San José come to visit parks, trails, and community centers. These visitors spend $120 million annually in the local economy and generate $4.93 million in local tax revenues.
